50 EAST 69TH STREET, NEW YORK 21, N. Y.

REGENT 4-2468

November 20, 1964

Dear Professor:

The Robert Schalkenbach Foundation announces the third in its current series of reprints. The title of this paper is "Containment Policies for Urban Sprawl." Its author is Mason Gaffney, member of the Committee on Taxation, Resources and Economic Development, presently Chairman, Department of Economics, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

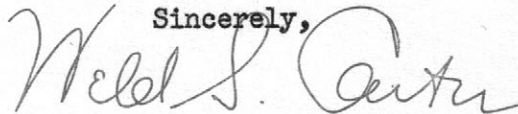

This reprint is of a chapter appearing in Approaches to the Study of Urbanization, which constitutes the proceedings of the Missouri Basin Seminar on Urbanization.

Professor Gaffney asks, and answers, the question: "Why should we want to contain cities?" He then analyzes three types of containment policy -- negative, neutral, and positive.

The Foundation has reserved a number of these reprints for those professors on whom I have called. I hope you will enjoy yours. If you would like extra copies, please request them.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'Weld S. Carter', written in a cursive style.
