

MAX CLARK

Max is a blogger and game designer advocating for the Land Value Tax (LVT). He is convinced we are living on a Monopoly board and the remedy is the LVT, as proposed by Henry George. He has advocated for the LVT at the National Conference of State Legislatures, hosted brewery meetups, and done livestream readings. He also organized a Georgist video game jam and programmed a Georgist video game. Alongside George's LVT, Max supports sortition: forming legislatures by random selection. Max lives in Southern California where he preaches the LVT and sortition to his friends, family, and soccer teammates.

Substack: <https://almostinfinite.substack.com/>

Twitch: <https://www.twitch.tv/landvaluetaxmax>

X.com: <https://x.com/maxalanclark>

Henry George video game jam: <https://itch.io/jam/veorve-jam/rate/2975950>

TOPICS: the works of Henry George, Georgism and sortition; democracy, history of Monopoly the board game; Tolstoy and Henry George; George & intellectual property; the Land Value Tax in video games; land valuation methodologies

Contact: In Cerritos, CA —