

Index.

Please note: This online edition does not match the pagination of the original text.

- American Republic, possibilities of, 328.
- Balance of trade, 112.
origin of the idea, 123.
- Bounties, 82, 89, 97, 100.
- Briggs, Thomas, 324.
- Bright, John, 277.
- Buckle, 327.
- Capital, not the oppressor of labor, 275; no conflict between capital and labor, 306; confusions in regard to, 306.
- Carey, H. C., 9, 79.
- Coal and iron monopolies, 178, 309.
- Cobden, Richard, 274, 324.
- Cobden Club, opposed to true free trade, 14.
- Competition, functions and effects, 306.
- Concentration, causes of tendency to, 165.
- Coöperative stores, 67.
- Copyright, international, 205.
- De Tocqueville, 189.
- Distribution, effects of increased production on, 256.
- Drawbacks, 84.
- Duties, export and import, compared, 115.
- English estates in America, 119, 275.
- Evarts, William M., 131.
- Exchange, international, governed by comparative cost of production, 147.
- Export duties, objections to, 116.
- Exports, due to other things than exchange, 117.
- “Fair traders,” 149.
- Fortification of our coasts, 328.
- Fourier, Charles, 64.
- Free trade, a general interest, 12; not a British invention, 13; natural trade, 14; British, 14; in the United States, 15; in Ireland, 17; in the United States, causes which have prejudiced working-men against, 18, 224, 230; and socialism, 300; inadequacy of the usual argument for, 224, 230; movement in England, 233, 291, 324; true, 277; why its advocacy has been so halting, 291; means peace, 328.
- Greeley, Horace, 56, 63, 93, 94, 109, 147, 176, 177, 206.
- Gronlund, Laurence, 303.
- Hoyt, Henry M., 242.
- Hyndman, H. M., 303.
- Import duties, fall on consumers, 71; claim that they are paid by foreigners, 85.
- Imports, in a profitable trade should exceed exports, 116; do not always imply exports, 117.

- Individualism, 303.
 Interest, rate of, as reason for protection, 144.
 Invention, effects of labor-saving, 263.
 Ireland, tariffs and industry of, 17; American remittances to, 118.
 Iron, effect of the duty on, 150, 177.
 Labor, efficiency varies with wages, 138; value the measure of embodied, 109, 137; relative not absolute cost of, determines exchanges, 147; the true standard of value, 198; not protected by tariffs, 204; conditions becoming harder, 230, 258; of itself helpless, 247; cause of its impoverishment, 267.
 Laborer, full meaning of the term, 68.
 Land, value of, increases as wages fall, 142; effects of private ownership of, 165, 172, 267; the passive factor in production, 173; monopoly of timber and mineral lands, 171; influence of price of, on wages, 213; monopoly of, gives control of labor, 259, 276; value of, 272; how equal rights to, may be asserted, 278; necessity of secure possession, 279.
 Landowner, not a producer, 173.
 Machinery, effects of, 253.
 Malthus, 9.
 Manufactures, natural development of, 153; localization of, 158; large demand necessary to, 160.
 Marx, Karl, 303.
 Middlemen, 64.
 Mill, John Stuart, 9, 86.
 Mining royalties, 177.
 Money, confusions arising from use of, 123; fluctuations in the value of, 198.
 Navigation Laws, effects of, 193.
 Octroi, 64.
 Over-production, 232.
 Physiocrats, 14, 289, 291.
 Political economy, simplicity of, 8; method of, 25; mercantile system of, 128.
 Production, what it embraces, 60; cost of, not determined by wages, 137; advantages for, 14; factors of, 172; increase of, does not benefit all, 232.
 Property in land, 165, 173, 267, 326; how instituted in Great Britain, 293.
 Protection, reasserting itself in Great Britain, 3, 103, 149; ends praiseworthy, 5; general acceptance, 11; influences it enlists, 12; not American, 13, 42; in the case of Ireland, 17; causes that dispose workingmen in its favor, 19, 242; its spirit that of enmity, 13, 32, 327; its corrupting tendencies, 34, 76, 91; what it prevents, 45; a world suited to, 52; its genesis, 69, 75, 128; is boycotting of ourselves, 105, 150; its real beneficiaries, 166; effect on prices, 87; effect on profits, 87, 166; effect upon other countries, 150; effect on land values, 174; first asked for the establishment of new industries, 94; difference between protectionist writers and popular pleas, 98; derives strength from confusions of thought arising from the use of money, 128; effects on American industry, 181; injurious to the development of manufactures, 153, 166, 181; tends to unjust distribution, 238; home-market argument, 103; balance-of-trade argument, 112; high-wages argument, 135; arguments drawn from advantages or disadvantages, 144; abolition of, would stimulate industry, 180, 217;

- plea for gradual abolition, 217; effect on wages, 230; cannot be abolished in the United States on the same lines as in Great Britain, 233; and wages, 195; cannot protect labor, 202; real strength of, 242; how it makes work, 243; cannot check concentrating tendencies, 265; strengthened by opponents, 252; its relation to monopoly of land, 320.
- Protective theory, if true, then universally true, 28; opposed to natural perceptions and impulses, 36, 59; arbitrary and shifting character of the protective unit, 37; inconsistencies of, 37, 92; applies to smaller even more than to larger divisions, 40; cannot be put in practice, 90.
- Public debts, 220.
- Quesnay, 14, 291.
- Revenue, Federal, possible sources of, 322.
- Rogers, Prof. Thorold, 239.
- Sailors, character of, 189.
- Savages, their rude methods due to isolation, 161.
- Scully, William, American estates of, 119.
- Shipping, American, 186.
- Slavery, two forms of, 270; influence of American, on public opinion, 295.
- Smith, Adam, 8, 14, 89, 106, 291.
- Smith, E. P., 79.
- Socialism, relations of free trade to, 300.
- Spencer, Herbert, 281.
- Sumner, Prof. W. G., 250.
- Tariff question, its importance, 3; not safely to be left to specialists, 6; not recondite, 7; not yet thoroughly discussed, 7; cannot be understood without going further, 9, 224; paradox to which it leads, 253.
- Tariffs, origin of, 69; first American, 15; are restrictions, not on foreigners, but on the people that impose them, 45, 150; for revenue, 69; for protection, 80; frequent modifications of, 170; Act of 1883, typical blunder in, 91.
- Taxation, indirect, a farming of revenue, 76.
- Taxes, direct and indirect, considered, 70; on ostentation, 287; on land values, 287; Federal, 323.
- Thompson, Prof. R. E., 37, 56, 63, 79, 98, 131, 190, 243.
- Tobacco and cigars, taxes on, 70.
- Trade, nature and function of, 45; a mode of production, 197.
- Trades-unions, influence on competition, 201, 209; can do little, 302.
- Value, the measure of embodied labor, 109, 137.
- Wages, a high standard of, a proper concernment of the state, 5; assumption that they are higher in the United States because of tariff, 23; not the determining factor in cost of production, 137; rate of, as related to land values, 142, 209; effect of protection on, 195; tendency to a common level, 199; governed by competition in labor-market, not in goods-market, 199; do not increase with employers' profits, 207; in widest occupations, determine general rate of, 211; effects of abolition of protection on, 230.
- Wealth, increase of, does not benefit all classes, 231.
- Wells, D. A., 168.
- Work, treated by protectionists as an end, 243; how this feeling arises, 247.