

George H. Royal

Domenic Della Volpe

New Dean Royal

THE DEAN has retired. Long live the dean! George H. Royal, who succeeds Domenic Della Volpe as dean of the Henry George School in New York, has endeared himself to all teachers and other objective proponents of this philosophy, through his excellent teacher-training courses.

"It is a privilege and an honor to be selected as a teacher of the philosophy of Henry George," Mr. Royal insists. "Philosophers and many others have spent a lifetime in the search of truth. Virtually all devotees of the Henry George philosophy believe they have found the truth and, accordingly, dedicate their lives to the promulgation of this theory.

"Prevailing conditions and the trend from natural law toward socialization emphasize the need for this knowledge," says Mr. Royal. "Awareness of these trends by our teachers and others and a willingness to counter such effects, tend to make for a perpetuation of democracy and the democratic processes."

For this work, Dean George H. Royal affirms, "our teachers and others are to be highly congratulated."
