Answer

Mrs. Henry George, Jr.

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mrs. George:--While I am not surprised at the bitter news that comes to us this morning, I am none the less shocked at the passing of your splendid husband. It was my pleasure to know him. While he bore a name that has become almost sacred among the forward-looking men and women of our time, it was not that alone that won for him the affections of thousands. He himself possessed so many rare traits of charming personality. He shall be missed in wide neighborhoods of men.

I am sure that I voice the sentiment of thousands of men and women throughout the land when I say that our hearts beat and throb for you. May the loving thoughts of these and the memory of a noble life remain with you in the years to be.

Sincerely yours,

L. J. Quinby
