

ployment of the W. B. Conkey company.

The injunction restrains the men also from compelling the company, by threats, intimidation, force or violence, to employ or discharge any person whatsoever against its will; and forbids them—from congregating or being upon or about the sidewalks, streets, alleys, approaches, places adjoining or places adjacent to said factory, and the premises of said complainant in the city of Hammond for the purpose of interfering with the business of the said firm.

The order further restrains the pressmen from gathering, singly or in small bodies, about the approaches to the factory "for the purpose of picketing or patrolling or guarding the streets, avenues, gates and approaches to the property of the W. B. Conkey company with the intention of intimidating or hindering persons from seeking employment at the factory or of interfering with the employes in the shop;" and in closing it reads:

And that said defendant and each and all of them be, and they are, and each of them is hereby enjoined and restrained from going either singly or collectively, to the homes of employes of said W. B. Conkey company, or any or either of them, for the purpose of intimidating or coercing any and all of said employes to leave the employment or service of said W. B. Conkey company or from entering into the employment or service of said W. B. Conkey company, and, as well, from intimidating or threatening in any manner the wives and families of said employes at their homes or elsewhere.

It was suggested by some papers that the restraint upon efforts at "persuasion," embodied in this injunction, had slipped into the order by accident; but in an interview published in the Chicago Tribune of the 25th the Conkey company's lawyer killed this suggestion by saying—

That "persuasion" means just what it says. I put it in for that purpose and Judge Baker copied my words. It means just this—that if anyone of those strikers should go to the house of any employe or stop him on the street or any other place and endeavor to talk him or her into joining the strike that person or persons is in contempt of court.

A different method from the process of injunction has been adopted in Florida for fighting strikes. It is used against the cigar makers' strike at Tampa. We referred to this strike two weeks ago at page 298. All the strike leaders had then been kidnaped and secreted. This was done under the direction of a local business men's vigilance committee—"Citizens' Committee," as it is called. But the place of the missing leaders was supplied by the substitution of Alejandro Rodriguez for the kidnaped J. C. Padilla, as secretary of the union, and the appointment of Amelio Valdez to the vacant editorial chair of La Federacion, the union organ. These men were promptly notified, however, by the vigilance committee, to leave the city within 24 hours. They neglected to obey, and an officer of the vigilance committee arrested the secretary while he was at dinner in a restaurant. Later in the day the editor also was arrested. "Both men," says the news dispatch, "have been secreted in the woods, and it is not known what will be done with them." Of the 13 leaders previously kidnaped only one has yet been heard from.

In American politics the only facts to record for the week are that the "middle-of-the-road" populists of Iowa have nominated ex-Congressman L. H. Weller for governor; that the chairman of the state committee of the populist party of Pennsylvania announces that the party will not nominate a state ticket this year, but will ask its members to vote against the republican machine; and that the republican convention of Nebraska, meeting at Lincoln on the 28th, has named S. H. Sedgwick for supreme court judge, which office is the head of the Nebraska ticket this year.

War news from South America is contradictory, each party having representatives in this country who furnish their own kind of news. The Liberal agent for Colombia, located at New York, gives out a dispatch from the Liberal agent at Quito, Ecuador, saying that a battle was fought on the 17th near Pasto, just north of the Ecuador line, between the forces of the Colombian government and those of the Colombian Liberals, which resulted in a great victory for the latter. On the other hand, the Colombian minister at Washington gives out an official dispatch from the Colombian minister at Quito, which reports a defeat of the Liberals near Tomaco. A later dispatch, a special news dispatch of the 24th, tells of an announcement of that day at Caracas, capital of Venezuela, that the Colombian government forces had been completely defeated by the revolutionist forces in the department of Cauca. Still another news dispatch, dated the 22d, and coming from Curacao, off Venezuela, states that Venezuela has sent war vessels with troops upon an expedition in aid of the Colombian revolutionists. But this is doubted by the Colombian minister at Washington, war not having been declared; and expectations of continued peace between Colombia and Venezuela are held out. The reports noted last week, that Ecuador was about to join with Venezuela in a war upon Colombia are also discredited. On the 26th the United States gunboat "Machias" arrived at Colon, on the northern coast of the Isthmus of Panama, for the protection of traffic across the Isthmus.

While this war cloud at the south of us looms up, the stubborn resistance of the Boers in South Africa to British occupation not only continues, but strengthens, and evidence accumulates that the British government is worse baffled than ever. Enlistments for South African service fall far below the mark, notwithstanding the high pay offered for "rough riders" to chase the Boers; and of the recruits that arrive in South Africa, Lord Kitchener complains that large numbers are physically incompetent for army life and work. Yet the Boers have carried the war far down into Cape Colony. One dispatch tells of a British proclamation of martial law, closing all the country stores in the Queenstown district, and "requiring that all goods likely to be useful to the enemy shall be taken to certain specified towns, and forbidding country residents to have in their possession more than a week's provisions." The significance of this is obvious when it is explained that Queenstown is a district of Cape Colony far south of the Orange Free State boundary. It is about midway between that boundary and the coast. Other dispatches give still further indications that the British colonies themselves are aflame with revolt. One tells of a Boer force having almost reached the coast at a point about midway between Cape Town and Port Elizabeth. Another reports an attack upon a British convoy on the way from Kimberley to Griqua-
